

Associate of Applied Science in Culinary and Foodservice Management

The AAS in Culinary and Foodservice Management program combines practical culinary experience students gained serving in the U.S. military, or through formal culinary training, with theory and knowledge related to foodservice operations management.

Students will complete coursework related to foodservice sanitation, foodservice operations, purchasing, cost controls, nutrition in foodservice, and facilities design. This knowledge will complement the skills acquired through employment to help prepare students with professional interests in culinary arts or foodservice management.

This program has specific admission requirements.

Program Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this program, the student will be able to:

- Demonstrate food safety practices that will ensure safe food production from purchase to service.
- Demonstrate application of theory and concepts as they relate to the various responsibilities of a foodservice manager.
- Implement strategies to effectively manage and improve restaurant performance, based on operational theory and procedures.
- Apply strategic management principles to accomplish goals and objectives of hospitality operations.

Programmatic Admission Requirements

This program is designed for students who have practical professional culinary arts experience and training. Culinary experience is required.
